Full Paper

According to Aristotle, Man is a social Animal. In view of that social work plays an important role in creating awareness among the public pertaining to the social integrity, social coherency, social consciousness and socialization towards enabling human relationship by organising seminars, conferences, workshops, rallies in the form of huge gathering directly / offline at one place which indicates solidarity and fight against the social taboos social inequalities and social injustices.

After Novel Corona Virus came into existence, the human relations are totally changed .In this corona context , the social workers have to change their strategies and adopt innovative, preventive, curative, ameliorative measures and generating awareness from socialisation to individualisation /isolation, maintaining Social Distance ,wearing the Masks and Gloves, Quarantine , Home Quarantine etc.

Many authors have tried to define social work profession. Werner W. Boehm came to the United States from Germany in 1937. Boehm is known as a social work educator whose pioneering work was in curriculum development in the U.S. and social work in Canada. He taught at the University of Minnesota from 1958 to 1963. Werner Boehm's definition of social work is widely used even today.

According to him "Social Work seeks to enhance the social functioning of individuals, singularly and in groups, by activities focused upon their social relationships which constitute an interaction between individuals and their environments. These activities can be grouped into three functions:

- i. The provision of individual and social resources,
- ii. The restoration of impaired capacity, and
- iii. The prevention of social dysfunction

The National Association of Social Workers (USA) in1958 defined social work practice as a "Constellation of value, purpose, sanction, knowledge and method."

The working definition identified three purposes of social work practice.

- To assist individuals and groups, to identify and resolve or minimize problems arising out of disequilibrium between themselves and the environment.

- To identify potential areas of dis-equilibrium, between individuals or groups and the environment in order to prevent the occurrence of disequilibrium.
- In addition to these, curative and preventive aims to seek out, identify and strengthen the maximum potential in individuals groups and community.

Profession and Environment

A profession involves practice-doing something with a high degree of skill. The skills are based on a fund of knowledge that has been organized into an internally consistent body of theory.

As a profession with a long-standing declared focus on person-in-environment, social work might be expected to play a leadership role in interdisciplinary efforts to tackle environmental threats to human well-being and continued existence.

The profession's longstanding person-in-environment perspective is examined for constraints that inhibit understanding of pandemic situations and environmental issues and the development of effective strategies

The values and principles of professional social work:

- i) Belief on the dignity and creative ability of an individual
- ii) Freedom of thought and work as long as they do not violate the other individual's freedom and thought
- iii) Belief on the right of self-determination.

The social work purely based on humanitarian philosophy and render services for the needy people in general, the services have been rendering by the social workers in various aspects which are Preventive, Curative, Rehabilitative and Ameliorative in particular.

Further, it follows the Multy Disciplinary Approach for identifying and resolving Multy Issues of communities and country

The roles and responses of professional social workers:

The professional Social Workers have to play various significant roles and responses during emergency and pandemic situations. The responses of them in pandemic periods are Rescue, Relief, Rehabilitative and Reconstructive etc. The roles of social workers such as Education ,Motivation, Sensitization, Mobilization, Convergence, Advocacy and Awareness creation on various social issues and identification of the problems on one hand and to conduct social research /surveys in order to seek solutions in and around of the vicinities of the communities , country and the continents of the World as well on the other.

The focus of social work practice is on the interactions between people and systems in the social environment” with a goal of restoration of balance or equilibrium within immediate social systems where there had been some disruption.

The focus of social work intervention thus is on the interaction between humans and their environments. Social workers may direct change strategies towards individuals or towards the environment and at other times towards the interaction of individual and environment. In all cases, these strategies are directed towards changing the nature of the person situation interaction. Social workers focus on problems (i) tasks involved in life transitions (ii) tasks in using and influencing elements of the environments
